

Interpreting Politically Correct English
With Tamara Moxham
December 1, 2001

Comments: (Not edited for grammar, syntax, or spelling):

The room is too cold to sit down and listen. Please keep the room I a warm temp. or room temp.

Introductions wasted valuable content time

Good background info on English language (historical perspective) and how it has evolved...I would like to see more "hands-on" type of activity-i.e: go over the list with several possibles, and then have the presenter show or compare with group' notes- this may benefit us to gain more awareness/knowledge.

Too much time on History

Very group-activity oriented yet I felt there was not enough direction/explanation & a lot of momentum & time not used to full potential.

In some ways I feel a little more confused than when the workshop started-not because fo the presenter, but because of the nature of the topic-very complicated issue- It certainly has gotten the brain cells going- feels just like the tip of the iceberg. Thank you for your efforts to tackle & present this

Too much history & English. Need point then explain more depth of P.C.

I know presenters don't like to give "answers" ei use this sign in this situation, but that is the kind of thing I like. Discussion is great, but sometimes at the end of the day of discussion I'm just as confused, or more confused than before.

Needed more time!

I appreciated the opportunity to discuss the issues w other terps, & really enjoyed the background about English

I wanted more actually discussion of actual PC signs-real demonstrations of using real signs for real situations.

Great food, thanks for sticking to the time line. Wonderful Interpreter & thanks a lot for the workshop.

A much needed workshop! I appreciate this immensely. Thank you!